Consulting Actuary - Kroon Actuarial

Skills & experience

Life insurance and reinsurance consultant with international experience across South Africa, Australia, and Canada. Gerrit can support you in growing capability, critical thinking, problem solving, direction and purpose, and initiative and drive.

Gerrit Kroon is a qualified actuary and consulting actuary who operates Kroon Actuarial. He is an experienced actuary focused on modelling and project-based work, having worked in life insurance, life reinsurance, and consulting across three continents. His diverse experience spans South Africa, Australia, and Canada, where he has worked mostly with US companies.

Gerrit's international experience is one of his greatest assets, being able to apply a wide knowledge set to the task at hand. For the last nine months, he has been self-employed, focusing on individual roles and leading small project teams. While he has mostly worked on individual assignments or led small project teams rather than larger departments, he always looks for opportunities to mentor and coach other team members.

Gerrit wants to contribute to the profession and help other individuals, making time available to support emerging actuaries. Based in Canada, he is particularly interested in working with Actuaries outside of Australia who may benefit from his cross-cultural perspective and experience working across different regulatory environments and markets. His diverse background enables him to provide insights on navigating international actuarial careers and adapting to different business contexts.
